Sunday, April 26, 2026 | “Compartmentalized Faith: Surrender”

On this powerful Lord’s Day, we were reminded that waking up is not something we earned—it is pure grace and mercy. Today’s lesson took us deeper into our ongoing series, Compartmentalized Faith, moving us from identifying our locked doors to confronting the harder truth: it’s not enough to open the door... we must surrender the room.

SisStar Tiffany came in transparent, walking this out in real time, teaching us from a lived place—not arrival, but active surrender. Through a vivid and unforgettable illustration, we were challenged to examine how tightly we’re still holding on—fear, control, pain, pride—while asking God to free us. The Spirit made it clear:

👉 You cannot receive what God has for you with a clenched fist.

This was a call to move beyond surface-level faith into a daily, intentional, and costly surrender—where God is not just invited in, but given full authority.

🗣️ SPEAKER VOICE + LESSON FLOW

“Sisters... surrender is not just letting God in... it’s trusting Him with what He does once He’s inside.”

🍬 THE CANDY JAR: THE PICTURE OF SURRENDER

- The little girl couldn’t get free because she wouldn’t let go
- Her hand wasn’t stuck... her grip was

FOUNDATION SCRIPTURE: PROVERBS 3:5–6

“Trust in the Lord with ALL your heart...”

- Not partial trust
- Not situational trust
- Not emotional trust

 Surrender = trusting beyond understanding

OPEN DOOR ≠ SURRENDER

“You can invite God in... and still try to control the furniture.”

- We say “come in God”...
- But then tell Him where everything goes

 True surrender releases control

POWER TRUTH:

“Faith begins where your control ends.”

WHAT SURRENDER REALLY LOOKS LIKE

Daily Dying (Luke 9:23)

- Not a moment... a lifestyle
- Not emotional... intentional

“Pick up your cross DAILY.”

✝ THE CROSS REVELATION

“If Jesus carried the cross after being beaten... what makes us think we’re exempt?”

- The cross is heavy because it crushes self-will
- Surrender is saying:

👉 “Less of me... ALL of You.”

🌸 CLOSING SUMMARY

SisStars... this wasn't just a lesson—it was a heart reset. We were lovingly confronted with the truth that many of us have done step one—we opened the door—but we stopped short of full surrender. God is not asking for partial access... He is asking for complete authority.

We were reminded that surrender is not weakness—it is trust at its highest level. It is choosing God when it doesn't make sense, obeying when it's uncomfortable, and releasing what feels safe to receive what is divine.

Today's call was clear and personal:

- 👉 Loosen your grip
- 👉 Pick up your cross
- 👉 Trust beyond understanding
- 👉 And wave your white flag

Because on the other side of surrender...

is freedom, peace, and a God-sized transformation that only happens when you finally say:

“Yes Lord... ALL of me.”
