The following is Re-cap for Lesson 4- Part C

Are you stiff necked? – Unable to move or bend- The Story of the hen

There is a story about a group of egg laying hens. One day the farmer brought home a new hen to join the pack of egg laying hens. Well the lead egg laying hen got so upset about the new hen that joined. The lead hen started to gather with the other egg laying hens and told them not to hang around the new hen. She told the other hens whenever she comes around to be stiff necked and not lay any eggs to show her they were the boss.

The farmer came around and noticed that none of the hens were laying eggs. So he decided to sell all of the hens to the supermarket and replace them with new egg-laying hens. All of the hens that refused to lay eggs ended up in somebodys soup pot.

Sistar don't allow yourself to become stiff-necked so you don't end up in somebody's soup pot!
